Adventurer Manufacturing LP announces the relocation of their operation to Yakima Washington

B.C., Canada, April 17th, 2008: Adventurer Manufacturing LP of Abbotsford, British Columbia has been manufacturing Adventurer, Slumber Queen, and Diplomat Truck Campers, Motor Homes, Travel Trailers and Fifth Wheels since 1969. Yesterday, James Epp, CEO, announced that the company would be relocating to Yakima, Washington.

After months of deliberation, Mr. Epp made this most difficult decision and on April 15, 2008, made the announcement to all employees. The company started as a manufacturer in Abbotsford and has continually operated there for the last 39 years. The high Canadian dollar has overwhelmed our cost cutting initiatives, combined with the continual inflationary pressure in the greater Vancouver area has made it increasingly difficult to operate a manufacturing company. We have been experiencing increasing difficulty in offering our Dealer network the competitive edge they require to be profitable with our product. This transition will allow us to reduce the cost for our TRU-COMPOSITE© recreational vehicles creating an opportunity for future growth.

We will be assimilating as many employees into the Fraserway Group of Companies as possible and will interview other employees who may require assistance through this transition.

The transition will take place when the production of current product is complete and closure of the Abbotsford plant is targeted towards the end of June. The company is in the process of finalizing plans in Yakima. Production of 2009 product is planned in the new facility in Yakima by mid August, 2008 and will be available to the dealer network by the end of August.

All inquiries or questions relating to the relocation can be directed to James Epp at james@fraserway.com or 604-850-1976.

Any dealer inquiries or questions can be directed to Jim Giesbrecht, Sales and Marketing Manager at jjimg@amlrv.com or 604-852-5731.
